*There's oil in the water
and poison in the air
The oceans are dieing,
but no one seems to care.*

*The food's not fit to eat,
and there's hopelessness on the street,
as corporations send jobs overseas,
and America is bankrupt and brought to its knees.*

*Mountains are destroyed for coal,
and nuclear wastes are out of control.
While Bush says everything is fine,
he obviously knows nothing about Iodine 129.
He lied to mass-murder Iraqis for their oil,
and he wonders why America's image is soiled.*

*Bush and Kerry talk of change,
but in reality, their energy policies are more of the same.
More coal, more oil and more natural gas,
its rape rob and ruin, but it doesn't have to come to pass.
The solar hydrogen economy is where we need to go,
but due the scale of destruction, we cannot afford to go slow.*

*Given that exponential icebergs lie dead ahead,
we on Spaceship Earth may soon be dead.
Like passengers on the Titanic we have very little time.
In exponential terms: its 11:59.*

*So help to turn the wheel my friend,
so it will be utopia and not oblivion in the end.
Harry Braun has charted the new course,
but without your help,
he will not have the force
and there will be no choice.*

*So help to turn the wheel my friend
Before its too late to avoid the dead end.
By charting a course for the solar hydrogen economy,
we will finally achieve pollution-free prosperity,
living in harmony with sustainability.*
